Business Development for EMEA

NEW YORK, NY – January 8, 2015 – The Cürex Group announced today that David Morrisroe has been named a Managing Director focusing on business development across the EMEA regions at this New York, NY based institutional foreign exchange execution, product development and index data company. Mr. Morrisroe is a 35-year FX markets veteran, having focused his career on all aspects of FX trading on both the sell-side and buy-side. Morrisroe spent 18 years at NatWest/RBS where he ultimately served as Head of Foreign Exchange for North America. He also worked at a major hedge fund before co-founding FrontierFX in 2008 which was acquired by FXDD in 2011. Morrisroe continued to build the Frontier brand at FXDD before deciding to join Cürex.

Commenting on Mr. Morrisroe’s appointment, Jamie Singleton, Cürex Group Chairman and Chief Executive Officer said, “We have known David for many years and could not be happier about his decision to join Cürex. He brings to Cürex a wealth of experience that will help us build our presence in Europe and further internationally. We expect to continue to build international resources under his leadership.”

Mr. Morrisroe added, “I am thrilled to join the Cürex team. The FX market and its participants are looking for the transparent and fair solutions that Cürex has developed and is offering now. Increased regulatory scrutiny is driving all users of FX to seek answers that address the legacy issues impacting our marketplace. Cürex’s proprietary technology offers solutions that I believe are not only relevant but deliver efficiencies not previously available. The UK and European markets represent a great opportunity for Cürex’s value propositions and I am excited to lead that effort.”
