Kevin Cudahy Joins Cürex Group as Managing Director, Business Development

NEW YORK, NY – May 24, 2017 – The Cürex Group announced today that Kevin Cudahy has joined its ranks as Managing Director. He will focus on business development at this New York, NY-based institutional foreign exchange execution services and data analytics company.

A 25 year FX markets veteran, Mr. Cudahy spent the last 4 years at Bloomberg Tradebook, where he most recently was Head of FX Sales North America. Mr. Cudahy brings to Cürex significant sales and management experience as well as a deep understanding of the OTC FX markets and ECN operations. He began his career at NatWest and held sales and trading roles at Republic Bank, Westdeutsche Landesbank and Credit Suisse. Prior to joining Bloomberg, Mr. Cudahy was Head of Bank Sales at BNP Paribas NY.

Commenting on Mr. Cudahy's hire, Jamie Singleton, Cürex Group Chairman and Chief Executive Officer said, "We're excited to have Kevin join the Cürex team. Given his experience and reputation, (he) (Kevin) had many alternatives to consider when choosing his next home. His decision to join Cürex is an endorsement of both our business model and our commitment to delivering best execution outcomes to our buy side customers. Kevin will make a valuable contribution to our business development efforts."

Mr. Cudahy added, "I have known the principals of the Cürex team for many years and have admired their commitment to building a best execution ECN and their determination to bring innovations to an FX marketplace that needs to evolve. Cürex has created unique solutions that differentiate them from any other FX ECN. I look forward to contributing my effort to make Cürex the buy side's destination for best execution."
